A. Permissible Uses and Disclosures Without Your Written Authorization. We may use and disclose your PHI without your written authorization for certain purposes as described below. The examples provided in each category are not meant to be exhaustive, but instead are meant to describe the types of uses and disclosures of your mental health information that are legally permissible.

1. Treatment: We may use and disclose your PHI to other clinicians involved in your care in order to better provide integrated treatment to you. For example, we may discuss your diagnosis and treatment plan with your psychiatrist or nurse practitioner. In addition, we may disclose your PHI to other health care providers in order to provide you with appropriate care and continued treatment.

2. Payment: We may use or disclose your PHI for the purposes of determining coverage, billing, claims management, and reimbursement. For example, a bill sent to your health insurer may include some information about our work together so that the insurer will pay for the treatment. We may also inform your health plan about a treatment you are going to receive in order to determine whether the plan will cover the treatment. We may also disclose information that you have received our services to others (such as collection agencies) in order to receive payment for services.

3. Health Care Operations: We may use and disclose your PHI in connection with health care operations, including quality improvement activities, training programs, accreditation, certification, licensing or credentialing activities. For, example, we may disclose disguised information about our work for training purposes.

4. Required or Permitted by Law: We may use or disclose your PHI when we are required or permitted to do so by law. For example, we may disclose your PHI to appropriate authorities if we reasonably believe that you (or a minor, elderly adult, or vulnerable adult) are a possible victim of abuse, neglect, domestic violence, or the possible victim of other crimes. In addition we may disclose your PHI to the extent necessary to avert a serious threat to your health or safety or the health or safety of others. If you are present, then we will provide you with an opportunity to object prior to such uses or disclosures. In the event of your incapacity or emergency circumstances, we will disclose your PHI consistent with your prior expressed preference, and in your best interest as determined by our professional judgment. We will also use our professional judgment and our experience to make reasonable inferences of your best interest in allowing another person access to your PHI regarding your treatment with us.

3. Other Uses and Disclosures. Uses and disclosures other than those described in this Notice will only be made with your written authorization. For example, you will need to sign an authorization form before we can send your PHI to your life insurance company or to your attorney. You may revoke any such authorization at any time by providing us with written notification of such revocation.
